PROF. DR. PETER WARSCHAWSKI
President & CEO

Prof. Dr. Peter Warschawski holds a Ph.D. in Applied-Clinical Psychology from the University of Zurich as well as a Master of Arts in psychology and a Master of Education from the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland. His academic positions have included professorships at the University of Maryland School of Medicine and the Baltimore Hebrew University (today Towson University).

Founder and president of Dr. Warschawski, LLC, he consults and coaches top management, as well as professional athletes and performing artists in the achievement of personal success.

His many years of business experience in Europe and the USA, together with his expertise in human potential and his years of practice as a contextual psychotherapist, allow him to train all the hard and soft skills for personal and professional success. Challenging and compassionate, he enables participants and clients to develop those inner qualities that transform technical skills and “know how” into true mastery.

Working with Contextual Therapy founder Robert Shaw, M.D., Dr. Warschawski became one of the original proponents of Contextual Therapy and Coaching. For over 30 years he has continuously developed this coaching orientation. Its establishment in the USA and Europe is due to his pioneer work in the field.

Dr. Warschawski created the seminar SURPASSING YOUR LIMITS to help successful people function on a level of achievement and well-being far beyond the outcome of traditional training courses.

He is the originator of the concept of the Vision-Led Organization and personally designed the process for organizations to establish themselves as a Vision-Led Organization - either from a startup position or as a conversion from a traditional hierarchical organization.

Dr. Warschawski gives seminars and lectures in America and Europe and is a consultant, coach, and therapist on both continents. He maintains a private practice for contextual psychotherapy and contextual coaching in Baltimore, Maryland, USA, where he lives with his family.
